Come and worship

Rejoice in fellowship

Love and serve the Lord!

...in our own languages we hear them speaking about God's deeds of power (Acts 2:11).

Dear All Saints' Family,

This morning a parishioner, Telly Hudson passed along a link to a hymn that a friend had sent him. I listened to it with great appreciation. After I listened I thought I would send Telly two links for songs from a recent concert that I attended. The concert was at The Vets and was a collaboration between the Gospel singers Blind Boys of Alabama and the West African duo Amadou and Mariam. (More about that Spirit-filled concert on Sunday.) The names of the songs I sent were: Two Cultures, One Beat and I Can See. The latter was particularly profound and stirring since the Blind Boys and Amadou and Mariam are blind. Telly sent me back a thank you with a thoughtful reminder that "the first rule of knowledge is... when you have discovered and learned something, you pass it along to others so they too can gain growth knowledge and development if they so choose."

As I was reflecting on these songs and Telly's words I was reminded of another song/hymn that I find particularly stirring. I went to our Facebook page to listen to it one more time while we still have a few days left in the Easter season. In April of 2020 when Rhode Island was under a shelter-in-place order, we celebrated the Feast of Easter on Zoom from my kitchen. Ryan had made a video of Barry playing the hymn Jesus Christ is Risen Today. We listened to it together at our Easter Service. I listened to the video many times that Eastertide. I recall so clearly what an uplifting and joyful gift the music was that Easter. It still brings tears to my eyes as I listen.

Do you have a music link you would like to share? Feel free to send along.

Here are the links mentioned above. You may encounter an advertisement on YouTube that you may wish to skip after a few seconds:

For the Harvest of Lands and Waters

O gracious Lord, you open your hand and fill all living things with plenteousness: Bless the lands and waters, and multiply the harvests of the world; send forth your breath, and renew the face of the earth; show your loving-kindness, that our land may yield its increase; and save us from selfish use of what you provide, that the poor and needy may give thanks to your Name; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen (adapted from p.828, BCP).
